SELECTIONS
from the Delta National Small Prints Exhibition

August 28 - October 1, 2014

The Delta National Small Prints Exhibition, an annual juried print competition, was founded in 1996 by Evan Lindquist. Each year a nationally known expert in the field of printmaking is invited to select the works of art for that exhibition and to determine which works will receive awards, including purchase prizes. The prints that you see here were chosen from the award winners that have become part of the Arkansas State University Permanent Collection of Art.

Evan Lindquist's prints can also be seen this fall at the following locations:
